Damani Felder is a Conservative political commentator and social media content creator. Born to 2 US Air Force veterans and the 2nd oldest of 9 children, Damani has a passion for truth and critical thinking and draws on his lived experiences to repudiate the plague of identity politics. Damani's interest in politics began while he was a student at Texas A&M University. He began speaking up against political correctness in 2013 and has continued doing so in the years that followed. A self-taught video creator, in 2018 he began creating content meant to challenge the status quo and has amassed over 750,000 combined social media followers across nearly 10 different platforms. Damani is merely a Patriot who could no longer remain silent while the world continued to regress and he works tirelessly to share the truth with others.
